220mm Wide Engineered Wooden Flooring Suitable for underfloor heating

Our engineered boards are not like the cheap versions where you get a mixture of birch and softwood, or where there are just two thin layers of birch and a thick centre layer of softwood like pine. All our engineered boards have a multi cross ply structure with layers of Birch for strength and stability and are structural boards which means they can be laid directly over joists

Engineered wooden floors are suitable for nailing onto an existing suitable base such as joists, battens, chipboard or plywood, they can also be glued down using the Bona R850 adhesive (see the adhesive section on the web site), or laid as a floating floor where you just glue the tongue and grooves together. As our engineered wood floors are top quality they are ideal for new build or renovation projects such as homes, flats, offices, studios, restaurants and bars, pubs and clubs, the designers' choice.

DIAMOND-E351L Engineered Oak 220 mm wide x 19mm thick in lengths of 1900mm. This American White Oak board is 19mm thick with a solid 4mm thick top layer in random lengths with 4 layers with one board being split for easy installation and 1.672 m² per carton prefinished with Bona UV lacquer for 20 years of easy maintained clean floors. The boards are tongue and groove all round for easy installation. This has become one of our most popular boards due to the grain and colour of the oak and the finish and the fact that it is ABC grade with few knots. We supply real wood flooring at truly economical prices and deliver Nationwide including Europe and Ireland.

DIAMOND-E352 Brushed Engineered Oak 220 mm wide x 19mm thick in lengths of 1900mm. This natural American White Oak board is 20mm thick with a solid 5mm thick top layer with 5 layers and 2.08m² per carton. This board has been lightly brushed removing the softer grain (the perfect floor for pets) to give the surface a texture that makes the floor look a lot more natural, prefinished with WOCA UV Oil for total protection. See more details in the PDF files below. This board is tongue and groove all round for easy installation. Since we introduced this board last year it has become one of our clients most favourite solutions as the brushing gives the board a totally natural texture.
